The Journal of Substance Abuse Treatment was founded by and is published in cooperation with North Shore University Hospital–Cornell University Medical College in Manhasset, New York.

The Division of Addiction Treatment Services, Department of Psychiatry, North Shore University Hospital–Cornell University Medical College, founded in 1971, is a multi-modality, interdisciplinary substance abuse treatment program providing a wide range of outpatient and inpatient clinical services, including prevention, health education and a continuing clinical conference series. The Division was developed in response to the needs of the hospital's surrounding communities and seeks to emphasize the appropriateness and responsibility of hospitals in addressing the epidemic health problem of substance abuse. The Division of Addiction Treatment Services receives funding support from the New York State Division of Substance Abuse Services, and the Nassau County Department of Drug and Alcohol Addiction. The opinions and conclusions published in the Journal are those of the authors; they are not necessarily representative of the opinions and philosophy of the Drug Treatment Center and North Shore University Hospital–Cornell University Medical College.
